“ I remember us all sitting around the kitchen table,timing your mom's contractions when she was ready to have you. She let us help choose your name. You were almost Michelle,but when we picked Deanna from the list,Michelle became your middle name. When you were a toddler,gram would ask if you wanted something to eat,and in a baritone voice you would say "corn!" What little kid wants a vegetable? And you hated leftovers...you called them "scraps".Then you all moved to Florida and a few yrs later, I got there to visit. Even though there were 18 yrs between us in age,we would sit in dad's pool for hours,and talk about everything under the sun.Years went by,marriages and kids for both of us and we reconnected on Face Book and I still have all of your chats from the past 3 yrs,that I looked over again last night. You always called me "the sister who talked to you",when you messaged me.By your choice,you unconnected with all of us over the past yr,but I never stopped thinking of you.If I'd had the time before you left us, I'd have told you that no matter what,I still loved you,just like I did in my last message to you,but you were gone way too fast.Even in death,you chose to exclude us and be alone,and I find that very sad,though I couldn't have traveled to your service anyway.. I'm glad your unhappiness and pain are gone now.Prayers and love to Ed and your kids. Thinking of you,your sister Laurie

Dee, you were and always will be our baby sister. You left this earth way to early causing a deep void in all of us especially your family, husband and children. You are now out of pain and sadness. RIP Deanna. I will forever have our last GREAT memory and picture of Mom, you, and I at Yankee Candle.
