“ Kevin became a best friend. He was a role model not only to me, but also my daughter and the many people whose lives he was a part of. His heart was bigger than himself, his love for his children and life brought him so much joy. From zooming down the mountains skiing, to countless car rides laughing and doing our favorite thing, gossiping about others, people watching, pushing each other to wake up at 5am to be at the gym together only to devour a pizza later tho same day... the memories are endless. I send all of my love to the Rayners and all the people who had the opportunity to meet such an amazing man.
