“ St. Peter was speaking to a group of new arrivals who happened to be Giant fans. They were asking him for like minded residents. St. P. was telling them of a special guest. Each morning this guy would arrive at the gates, often before me. He would ask for the Daily Welcome Log. For ten years he would check the log and then return to a card game with his brothers and a guy named "Walsh". If not there, he was more than likely found watching "Giant" and "Georgetown" replays. All that changed about a month ago. He finally saw the name he had been waiting for and since then he hasn't stopped watching her dance. And, she hasn't stopped smiling. I think of you guys often. You each gave them reason to be the proudest parents in the world and they were. Welcome to the orphan club. bill and judy carey
